"What did he ask you, Yaqui?" inquired Frank.
"He wanted to know where you came from
and why you were here."
"You didn't tell him, I hope."
"I told him nothing."
"You mentioned our names."
"Yes. But there was no harm in that."
The Indian then told them he had learned from the half-breeds that there was a road about a mile from the hut. By traveling up to the foothills they would be able to make with a highway which would take
